DULUTH, Minn., May 11.—A wireless dispatch late this afternoon stated that Grand Marais was safe after
an all night battle with the flames.
The wireless telegrapher was so busy fighting the fire that he failed to answer calls sent him earlier in the day.

WAUSAU, Wis., May 11.—The entire south half of the town of Mosinee, ten miles south of Wausau, was levied by a forest fire which has been sweeping that part of Marathon
county for the last 24 hours.

Telephone communication with the town is cut off and the last message
received from the railroad operated
at that place stated that the following buildings had been destroyed:

Sawmill, postoffice, four general
merchandise stores, two drug stores,
two saloons, ten residences.

Every house in town has been vacated.

The Wausau fire department went to Mosinee on a special train at 8 o'clock. At 11 o'clock word reached here that the fire was under control.
The $25,000 new public library and
the $30,000 high school were saved.
The village of Parfish, a few miles north of this city, which has been threatened by the forest fires, sent in a call for assistance from that place Wednesday morning. No report of the damage has been received but
it is believed the town will be saved.

Village Destroyed

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 11.—There was a report from Duluth this morning that Grand Marais, Minn., a town
of about 200 inhabitants on Lake Superior, was destroyed by forest fires.
The wireless telegraph station, the only means of communication was abandoned by the operator late Tuesday afternoon, with a final message saying the town seemed doomed. All effort to communicate with Grand Marais this morning was futile. It is generally believed at Duluth that
the town has been wiped out.

Town Barely Saved

HOUGHTON, Mich., May 11.—
Special trains on the South Shore
railroad with fire fighting apparatus
today returned from Alston which was seriously endangered by forest fires. The town was saved after a desperate two days' battle.

Homes at Baltic, Tri-Mountain
and South Range are not in danger
today, the forest fires there having been checked. The situation at L'Anse also is improved.

Forest fires are raging unchecked
along Pilgrimage river, south of Houghton, destroying timber but
the town is in no danger at present.

Fires also are raging near L'Anse,
Pilgrimage river, Allouez, Ahmeek and Alston. Fifty inmates of the Houghton county poor farm last night were moved out as the flames menaced it.
The Good Will Orphan farm also
was menaced.

Wide Area Afire

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—
The entire northeastern part of Minnesota is smoldering and smoking,
vast timbered areas in Wisconsin are being threatened with destruction
and large losses seem inevitable, according to dispatches received in Milwaukee.

Reports of vessel captains and
train crews entering Superior, Wis.,
seem to indicate that the fires are scattered over an area of at least 500
miles. The densest pall of smoke
seen in a score of years is hanging
over Lake Superior, and fires appear to be burning in all directions.

A report from Washburn says that the flames have entered the largest
tract of standing timber in the state.
High winds are fanning the fire and the entire crews of the Hines Lumber company are fighting it.

Thousands of dollars damage is reported from Washburn. The fires
have been raging for two days, and the homes of farmers living in Four Mile Creek valley and along the Northern Pacific railroad went of the city are threatened. Fires are burning on every side of the city.

CUMMINS SHOWS UP MACHINE

Exposes Aldrich Methods
and Doliver Flays Tariff; Ask Defeat of Iowa Stalwarts

DES MOINES, Ia., May 11.—
United States Senators J. P. Dolli-
ver and A. B. Cummins are today speeding back to Washington to be on the ground when the debate on the railroad bill comes up in the senate. The campaign among the home folks for the endorsement of the progressive movement in congress and the approval of their opposition to Aldrich in the senate
through the election of progressive congressmen and state officials this fall, was cut short after their addresses last night.

The senators addressed ten thousand voters, representing every congressional district. After the addresses the senators rushed for a train and started back to Washington.

Doliver Shows Tariff "Tricks"
Senator Doliver analyzed the tariff which was issued by the government officials and used by President Taft in backing up his assertion that the recent tariff revision was a downward one.

The senator took the law schedule by schedule, and pointed out
where the figures used by the regulars were deceptive. According to the senator, the tariff schedule
representations had resulted in making
the tables show reductions from the Dingley act, when, in fact, study of the measure showed that the advances far outweighed the reductions.

What reductions had been made,
he said, were almost altogether on crude materials, resulting in further profits to the manufacturers
and no reductions for the consumer.
Other supposed reductions were converted into increases, he said, by the insertion of "jokers." In this connection he quoted from the timber
schedule.

Cummins Tells Machine's Work.
Senator Cummins in his address
told of the workings of the Aldrich-Cannon organization in congress.

Nearly all of the men in this combination, he said, were held under the thumbs of the great industrial trusts. Their first thought on every legislative question, he declared,
was not for the good of the people,
but for the profits and safety of
the combinations of capital.

He urged the people of Iowa to unseat four of its delegation in the lower house—Hull, Smith, Towner
and Kennedy—because, he said,
they all have voted and will continue to vote just as the Cannon-Aldrich crowd desires they shall vote.

To make affairs at home safe
while the progressive leaders of the party in Iowa are in Washington he demanded that the republicans elect Garst as governor.

Cummins referred to the efforts
of a certain number of the Iowa
standpatters to frame up a convention which would endorse the national administration and the tariff
bill as an underhanded blow at Dol-iver and himself, together with the progressives of the Iowa delegation
in the lower house. He invited
those who attended the recent convention in Des Moines to come out in-
to the open and fight.

TAFT NAMES ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—
President Taft today appointed Theodore Roosevelt
special ambassador of the United States to attend the funeral of King Edward VII. Col. Roosevelt accepted the commission in a cable message.

MAY TEST JOHNSON. JEFFRIES FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 11.—
Promoter James Coffroth went to Redwood City today to confer with District Attorney Bullock, who has threatened to prevent the Papke-Thomas fight.

If Bullock does not recede from his position, Coffroth will stage a cheap fight at Nisision in June, submit to arrest and test the state law.
On the decision in such a case would
rest the fate of the Jeffries-Johnson
fight.

DENY ANTI-BEVERIDGE PLOT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 11.—
In the absence of Mayor Lew Shank
from the city, Lieutenants of his administration today refuse to discuss the alleged plot to defeat United States Senator Beveridge for re-election, as unfolded last night by W. D.
Headrick, republican candidate for prosecutor.

CHINESE RIOTS RENEWED

LONDON, May 11.—The London
secretary of the China Inland Missions received telegrams today confirming the report that riots have broken out again in Yuen Chow,
about 200 miles from Chang Sha,
the scene of the recent anti-foreign demonstration. Today's dispatches
give no particulars.

JOE GANS IN HIS LAST TRAINING CAMP

BALTIMORE, Md., May 11.—
Accompanied by his wife
and armed with letters of introduction from his conqueror,
Battling Neelson, who owns a
ranch in Arizona, Joe Gans,
the foremost lightweight pugilist of his day, left today for Phoenix, where he will go in-
to training for his battle with tuberculosis.

Gans' leave taking was marked by feeling incidents.
Followed by the colored population, Gans and his wife
entered the railroad station.
But of all the pictures there stood out one—Gans' aged mother, who unwittingly became famous by wiring to Joe just before his memorable battle
at Goldfield: "Joey, bring home the bacon."

Story Known Only Through

Dying Companion

GLASGOW, Ky., May 11.—A Holland Forbes and Astronomer J. C.
Yates of New York were found unconscious near their wrecked balloon at Center last night, after an attempted record breaking flight
from Quincy, Ill. They recovered consciousness this morning but are still
too weak to detail their experiences.
Both are believed to be badly injured
and the most that has been learned
is that their balloon went wrong
and they were hurled to the ground
before realizing what had happened.

Yates May Die

A physician attending Forbes and Yates says both men are too badly injured to be moved and Yates' recovery is doubtful. It is feared Yates is internally injured while Forbes is cut and bruised from head to foot.

Center is thirty miles from a railroad without telephone connections
and news of the accident is difficult to obtain. Cards found in their pocket identified the two men when found on the farm of Tilford Boston.

Those who sighted the big balloon before it fell said the dirigible
balloon staggered as though by a heavy blow and then fell swiftly to the earth, a mass of wreckage.

The men were carried unconscious
to the home of Tilford Boston while Dr. Page was summoned by a mounted messenger.

Seek Second Airship

Farmers who witnessed the fall of the Viking assert that a second and slightly smaller balloon fell in the same vicinity shortly after and
searching parties are now scouring
the woods for traces of the wrecked
craft or its injured occupants.

A Delirious Story

In a fit of delirium Forbes this afternoon gave a disconnected version of what must have been the cause of the accident to the Viking.
To the group of farmers and physicians about his bedside his incoherent talk was pathetic.

"That's about the Connecticut
line," he raved, "There's Missouri,
there's Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee, and Illinois again." Suddenly he shrieked out the sentences believed to explain the accident.

Gas Overcome Them

"Yates," he cried, "the gas is leaking. I've lost control; we've got to lighten her. I'm about gone, I can't get my breath; the gas—"

At intervals he told in broken sentences how drag rope, dropped when an accident was feared, had in some manner torn the silk bag, permitting
the gas to escape and suffocate the
men before the balloon dropped.

The man identified as Yates insists that he is Wm. A. Hall of New York,
despite the presence of cards and other papers in his pockets bearing the name of Yates.

UNIONS WILL BUY
MUNICIPAL BONDS

International Bakers Announce They Want
Milwaukee Securities

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—The city officials announce that Milwaukee municipal bonds will not go begging under a Social democratic administration. On the contrary there is likely to be an unusual demand for them.

An unexpected resource and without the knowledge of the mayor, has developed. At a meeting in Chicago, the executive board of the International Bakers' Union met and decided to buy Milwaukee bonds to the extent of $200,000, should the need for such action arise.

At the same time the international bakers' union requested all other international unions to take similar actions.

JUDGE GROSSCUP
TALKS ON TRUSTS

MADISON, Wis., May 11.—Judge Peter Grosscup, in a lecture to the law students at the University of Wisconsin, spoke of the necessity of combination of capital in this country. "It is as much an instinct of the people as the love for liberty," said Judge Grosscup. "The trouble is," he continued, "that the people do not know how to handle the trust situation."

He spoke of the recent Standard Oil case and said if it is decided against the Standard Oil company the Sherman anti-trust law will become ineffective, and this country will have one gigantic corporation which that law can not touch. The anti-trust law will have fulfilled its mission in not allowing combination of corporations, but it can not prevent what will result, the existence of one great, enormous single corporation.

SEES HOPE FOR COUNTY OPTION

MADISON, Wis., May 11.—Senator Barker of Sparta, candidate for the republican nomination for governor on the county option platform, was in the city and called at the capitol.

"It is much too early to forecast the outcome of the gubernatorial contest," said Mr. Barker, "but the early prospects seem bright." He added that he considered conditions ripe in this state for a vote on county option.

ENTER GOVERNORSHIP FIGHT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—Practically official announcement was made at the session of the trustees of the Anti-Saloon league that this organization would take part in the primary campaign over the republican nomination for governor by reason of the activity of the liquor interests in regard to this campaign.

STATE BRIEFS

MERRILL, Wis.—Henry R. Allen, one of the best known Grand Army men in the state, died Monday night.

APPLETON, Wis.—The senior class at Lawrence college next June will comprise forty-seven students, the largest class ever graduated.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Gov. James O. Davidson will probably announce Thursday to a committee of close friends whether he will be a candidate for the republican nomination for another term as governor.

INCREASE IS MADE
IN THE VALUATION

Although the assessors will not be through with their work until the end of June, they are working rapidly and in many cases the valuation of property has been increased. All stocks of goods on May 1 are assessed.

La Crosse People Have Found That
This is True

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench,
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.

Spells of backache often follow.
Or some irregularity of the urine.

A certain remedy for such attacks.
A medicine that answers every call.

Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific.
Here is La Crosse proof.

Fred L. Mable, 620 South Eighth street, La Crosse, Wis., says: "About twenty-five years ago I fell and injured my spine and I believe this was the cause of my kidney trouble. My kidneys were much disordered and gave me great annoyance. Finally, procuring Doan's Kidney Pills from Erhart & Son's drug store, I began using them, according to directions. I received great relief and since then I have taken this remedy with good results. I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills will cure any case of kidney trouble."

ship in Minnesota
in Year

WINONA, Minn., May 11.—State Deputy J. H. Nightingale, in his annual report to the Knights of Columbus, in session here, the figures of which agree with the report of Secretary E. F. Kelly of Fairbault, gives the membership in Minnesota as 4,500, a gain of 1,200 in the past year. New councils were installed at Spring Valley, Brainerd and Bemidji. The membership in the county at large was 250,000 and death claims paid in the last calendar year were $515,000.

EBERHART WANTS
HARMONY IN CAMP

OMAHA, Neb., May 11.—Governor Eberhart of Minnesota was the guest of the city of Omaha, and, once having been a Nebraska boy, he was given a most cordial welcome.

The governor stated that the republicans had been quarreling too long, considering the fact that they had nothing to quarrel about. Then he talked for harmony, urging them to get together, insisting that the only thing over which there could be any possible difference is the tariff, and the law recently passed, he declared, is the best that could, under the circumstances, have been given to the people.

CLASS OF SIXTY
IS INITIATED

SPRING VALLEY, Minn., May 11.—A class of sixty candidates was initiated by visiting Knights of Columbus here, forming the nucleus of the organization at this place. Rev. Father Comeski of Rochester delivered an address at the church. A banquet was held in the evening, and Rev. Father O'Connor of Wykoff acted as toastmaster. Knights were present from Austin, Rochester, Minneapolis, Red Wing, La Crosse, Wis., Wabasha, Lanesboro, Fountain, Preston and Wykoff.

To Clean Hair Brushes Without Injury

Good hair brushes are costly, but if properly cared for they will last for years. To wash them, have ready two basins, one three-fourths full of boiling water, and the other with the same amount of cold water. In the boiling water, dissolve a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder and shake the bristles up and down in the solution until they are thoroughly clean, then at once rinse well in cold water and stand the brush to dry in the air or in a warm place, but not too near the fire. Of course the back of the brush must not be wet.

Men Instrumental in Fighting This Form of Gambling.

NEW YORK.—The investigation into alleged bucket shop operations is beginning to bear fruit. Already many operators have been arrested, but the federal authorities are after the men higher up. The latest raid resulted in the arrest of two men and the alleged disclosure of the fact that by an elaborate system of telegraph wires the quotations of the New York stock exchange were stolen and supplied to hundreds of bucket shops over the country.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

To people who receive with skepticism the assertion that President Taft aims to exert a powerful influence in Wisconsin for the defeat of Senator Robert M. La Follette, we are moved to point out the overt acts by which his hostility to the senior senator and to the political sentiment in this state has been manifest.

He has for more than a year held up the appointment of J. E. McElroy of Milwaukee, named by La Follette as district attorney for the eastern district, although Mr. McElroy has the endorsement of an almost unanimous bar.

He has reappointed our good friend, F. A. R. Van Meter, of New Richmond as postmaster in Lenroot's district, in opposition to the wish of Mr. Lenroot.

In that same district he has turned down Cooper, of Portage, and named a stalwart to be postmaster. In that same district he has nominated ex-Congressman Jenkins, defeated by Lenroot, to a federal judgeship.

These are examples. They show that in every case in which enemies of Theodore Roosevelt are candidates in opposition to La Follette and Roosevelt men, President Taft overrides congressional customs and names the reactionary.

As to what manner of man it is that he has named in Jenkins, let us quote from authority outside the state. The New York Evening Post once said:

"It was easy for Mr. Jenkins' opponents to show that he has stood as an impassable barrier for some of Mr. Roosevelt's proposed measures by virtue of his chairmanship of the house judiciary committee. Whether the proposed legislation was good or bad; whether Mr. Jenkins' conservatism was justified or not, were questions not discussed. It was enough to say that Mr. Jenkins was opposed to the will of the majority in congress and that Cannon backed him in his holding up of one bill after another because of its unconstitutionality—and Mr. Jenkins' long career in congress is at an end."

Collier's Weekly, speaking of Mr. Jenkins, said:

"Jenkins of Wisconsin is the least impressive of Mr. Cannon's coterie. He is among the leaders not because of his strength, but because of his pliability. Officially, he is chairman of the committee on judiciary; colloquially, he is the keeper of Cannon's morgue, the quiet embalmer who puts progressive measures where they will not embarrass the members of congress with a vote on the public records. A few weeks since we called attention to his work on the original forestry bills. This week we are not without a sense of satisfaction in pointing the way to oblivion for him."

In view of these conditions in Wisconsin, conditions that pertain in other states, east and west, it may be deduced that the wisest thing President Taft has said since he entered upon the duties of his high office is that "one term as president is enough for any man."

GEORGE BRUMDER

The passing of a man like George Brumder, the Milwaukee publisher, is bound to entail loss to the city and state in which his activities have been so long felt for good. That his estate has fallen into good hands, that the burden of his work falls upon capable shoulders is the one fact that serves to mitigate the misfortune of his going.

The influence for right things in business and politics exerted by the late journalist is understood, and needs no repetition here, and perhaps the more interesting thing about the man is his career of achievement. We take from the Milwaukee Journal, a newspaper whose publishers have intimate knowledge of Mr. Brumder, the following comment upon the victorious efforts of a citizen whose nature had splendidly endowed:

"When a man like George Brumder dies and his career is reviewed from its beginning there is revealed to us the fact that truth is indeed stranger than fiction. For here was a man who was a penniless immigrant at 18 and at the time of his death was the foremost German publisher in the United States. He rose slowly and steadily to a place of wealth and influence. It was the work of years and without startling or spectacular features. All added with his every wish fulfilled by the genius of his magic lamp was a more fantastic conception, but even the Arabian tale was not as strange as the truth disclosed in such a career as that of George Brumder, who plodded slowly along year after year, with infinite patience, keen judgment and remarkable foresight until like the tortoise in the fable he outstripped those who had every seeming advantage and reached the goal while they waited by the way.

"With conditions more settled, with opportunities for new enterprise more limited, it may be more difficult to repeat the successes that the leaders of the generation passing from the stage achieved, yet there ever remains the human element—the one vital factor in human affairs. Each generation must cope with its own problems. Environment, institutions, opportunities are factors that cannot be ignored, but, after all, the success or failure of the individual depends largely upon himself and his natural abilities. He inherits more from his parents than he does from the state. Society cannot give to him pure blood and a clear brain. Those he must get from his progenitors.

"George Brumder was richly endowed not with goods and chattels, but with a strong body, a clear mind, keen insight, sound judgment, self reliance and determination. And as he was endowed and as he used his talents so he made his way in life."

Before leaving office Dr. Anderson served upon Chief of Police Weber a written order to close all disorderly houses in La Crosse. This order can be revoked legally only by a written order from the mayor, countermmanding it. Has such a written order been issued?

Congressman Cooper is said to have promised insurgent support to the financing of the Taft tariff commission. That is all right, provided it is to be a real tariff commission. It looks more like an organization created to beg the tariff question.

Did the Kaiser entertain Teddy, or did Teddy entertain the Kaiser?

SPOTLIGHTS

THE SPECULATORS

The play presented Thursday evening by the Wm. Grew Stock company is James Dustin's great four act society drama, "The Speculators." This play will be produced for the first time in La Crosse, Mr. Grew having made special arrangements with the author, a particular friend of his, an old college chum, to give the theatergoers of La Crosse an opportunity of witnessing this play before it makes its appearance in New York city, where it will be produced in the early fall.

The play is written on the order of "Paid in Full" and "The Lion and the Mouse." The story of the drama is of the deepest interest. It doesn't fail to hold your attention from the rise until the fall of the curtain. The atmosphere of the stock exchange and the speculating on Wall street prevails throughout the entire performance.

Mr. Grew will be seen as Carson Bland, the speculating westerner, who invades Wall street and the high circles of society.

COSTUME COSTS $4.80

Defrei, the Gypsy violinist, who is attracting the attention of prominent musicians in the city with his playing at the Majestic this week, is a great stickler for fidelity to detail and in no regard is this better shown than in the way he secured his attire.

"This costume," declared Defrei, who by the way speaks excellent English for a foreigner, "is stamped 'made in Italy' all the way through and cost me the vast sum of 4.80 not to mention considerable time and labor."

"I was trying to figure out a way to secure a suit that would be to my liking and nothing at the costumer's seemed just right. One morning I happened to see a number of Italians going into a Pennsylvania tunnel. I decided that I could get my costume here so I went after them."

"Finding my Italians, I approached them the one who looked most tempting while chopping away with his pick in the tunnel."

"Good morning Giuseppe," said I; "I want to buy that coat."

"You wanta buya da coat?" growled he. "Go way from me. Bigga da fool botter man worka."

"Plink, plink, plink, plink, chug!" "Pay you good money for the coat," I persisted. "What do you want for it?"

"Plink, plink, plug!" "Get out dis, Botta man worka; geta da stillet. Bigga da fool!"

"Plink, chug, plink, chug." "I went out again and hunted up a bright little bootblack. He accepted a little silver and acted as an interpreter when we returned to the tunnel. You see I couldn't understand that fellow's dialect although I can understand the language."

This time the Italian soon understood and sold me the coat for $2.80. Then the rest of the wops grew interested and quit work to bargain with me. I bought this pair of corduroy trousers, a battered hat made in Palermo, a gaudy kerchief and a pair of shoes. The whole gang had given up all idea of work to drive their bargains with me and I was just getting my bundle together when the foreman came on a run to punish me. By good sprinting I escaped, the Italians shouting cheery good-bys and yelling, "Coma once more boss, we sella you da plenty."

Defrei has a good violin act and is creating much favorable comment by his excellent playing this week. His instrument is an old one, with beautiful tone and is valued at $1,500.

A Home-Made Remedy For All Nervous Ailments

Nerve medicines and prescriptions are usually expensive. Here is one that you can prepare at home in a few minutes, at small cost. There is really nothing better for any nervous disorder.

Make a strong tea by steeping five cents worth of Hops in a pint of boiling water, and strain it well. Put two ounces of Thargol Compound in an eight-ounce bottle (exactly half pint), then fill it up with the Hop Tea. Try two tea-spoonfuls four times daily.

This simple remedy is free from narcotics, opiates or other dangerous drugs. It soothes and strengthens the nerves without any evil effects. In sleeplessness or nervous headache it is worth its weight in gold. For "nervousness," nervous prostration, hysteria—ev-en St. Vitus' Dance—it is a splendid medicine. Costs only about 55 cents, but nothing better can be had at any price.

This is well worth trying, providing you get the right ingredients from your druggist—five cents worth of Hops and two ounces of Thargol Compound. Make it as above directed.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Amiable Jones Jones commuted from Brooklyn. He bore his fate like a man. When his car was late, he waited; When his car was early, he ran.

Strap-hung, and claimed he liked it; Chuckled over the rain; Faced the incursions of shoppers With never a sign of pain.

But whenever he got to the water—No gain without some loss—So sure as he boarded that ferry, It always made him cross!

—Lippincott's.

A Disappointed Man

Mr. Halloran surveyed the insurance agent with a dark and hostile countenance. The fact that one eye was concealed by a somewhat grimy bandage did not add to the attractiveness of his expression.

"Haven't you made up your mind yet to insure with us?" inquired the agent. "You told me I might call again in a few days."

"There was two of you at me to get an accident insurance policy," said Mr. Halloran, brooding heavily. "I told you and him both you might call in again, and he come first, day before yesterday, and I insured wid his company."

"That very night I met up wid Barney Casey on the way home, which was what I was expecting wid happen," continued Mr. Halloran, raising himself by grasping the arms of his chair with two capable, although scarred hands, "and whin we'd finished wid one another I was like this!"

"Yesterday morning I sent for the insurance chap, and says I to him, 'Look at me,' I says, 'and istimate the damages and pay them.'"

"He squirmed right out of the door, saying 'twas no accident I'd had."

"Now if meeting wid Barney Casey, after keeping out o' his way for six months, is no accident, I'm done wid insurance companies, and the sooner you I've this house the better 'twill plaze me."—New York Globe and Commercial Advertiser.

Force of Habit

"Why did you break your engagement with that school teacher?" asked the friend.

"If I failed to show up at her house every evening, she expected me to bring a written excuse signed by my mother."—Woman's Home Woman's Home Companion.

A Neighborly Precaution

The new clerk at the drug store returned the prescription to the old customer with a request that he wait till the boss returned.

"But why can't you fill it out?" "I could if you was a stranger, but I ain't to fill 'em for folks that lives about here."—Success Magazine.

A Hair Raising Crisis

In a small country town there once lived a couple of young fellows who had gone into partnership in a barber's business, and in order to pass the time one particularly dull afternoon Tom proposed to Dick that they indulge in a quiet game of "nap."

The quiet game went on hour after hour, and when the shades of night had fallen for some time neither of them noticed that a customer had entered. He surveyed them in silent contempt for some few minutes.

"Sorry if I interrupt," he said, "but, at last, I'm in a hurry. Which of you ferdid sportsmen is going to shave me?"

Tom looked over the hand which had just been dealt him. Then, in a voice full of suppressed excitement, he said:

"Just one moment, sir. Wait until we see who owns this shop!"—Tit-Bits.

"I saw you dancing with Jones just now. Is he good?" "A wonderful dancer! He never touched the floor."

"How'd you mean?" "He danced on my feet."—New York Evening Telegram.

"Who is the man that everyone seems to know?" "Oh, everyone knows him. He's our secret police."—Fliegende Blaetter.

VIRGINIA
OF THE
AIR LANES.

BY HERBERT QUICK
COPYRIGHT BY BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

CHAPTER—VIII.

The Flight of the Roc.

Mr. Carson, baffled in heaping coals of fire on Shayne's head, brooded over the fact that the very writ of injunction that made him the master of the air, confined the girl for whom he had striven, in a petit trianon on a mountain top, with Max Silberberg! It was a thing to ponder over in solitude, and to make one absent-minded in public; to destroy one's appetite, and make sleep a tradition. But if the victor felt such ferment of spirits, what of Mr. Shayne, and the castaways in a palace?

None of them knew at first that the prison was a prison. Then Silberberg received the news heroically, seeing in it a Virginia-opportunity, and asked permission to break the news to her himself. She was in a skiff on the western lake, watching the sunset, and surrounded by lotus blooms, but rowed in at his call.

"I was just coming in," she said. "Let's go to the house."

"But I have something to say to you," said. "Let's sit down."

Virginia took a seat too small for two, leaving him another too large for one—not the desired arrangement at all.

"What is it, Mr. Silberberg?" she asked.

"Virginia," said he impressively, "did you ever read of a man and a girl wrecked on a lonely island— isn't there such a story?"

"Dozens of them," replied Virginia. "It's quite the vogue—in fiction."

"If it were you and I, it would be—"

"Awfully stupid," replied Virginia. "Unless you could make a Stock Exchange of me, or manipulate the water of the sea into securities. I wouldn't stay!"

"Not with me?" Virginia shook her head. "Not with any one," said she.

"But I should be the most useful and obedient fellow!" urged Max, now quite set upon the project. "I would build you a hut of—of seaweed—or copra—don't they use those things?"

Virginia laughed. "Better build it of beche-de-mer!" she suggested.

"Virginia," said Max, oblivious of the irony, "we are prisoners together!"

Virginia looked about her. Sunset had faded into twilight. Night-hawks screamed in the gloom of the lower levels. From remote cottages lights twinkled; yet in that high place it was day. A breeze from the west swept her hair, cool, free, uncontaminated by any touch of earth—truly, the breeze of heaven. A prisoner! Freedom herself seemed to dwell there. Virginia glanced questioningly at Silberberg.

"This imprisonment!" she cried. "Yes," said Silberberg, "we are shut in; and by that fellow Carson, that—"

Of the temporary unclehood of Theodore to Virginia, or the Virginia's night visit to the Hold, Mrs. Shayne had not thought it necessary to tell him; therefore, Mr. Silberberg was ill-informed as to Virginia's real feelings toward Carson. But he remembered the night on the Roc, when she had taken his part—and hesitated. Virginia looked away.

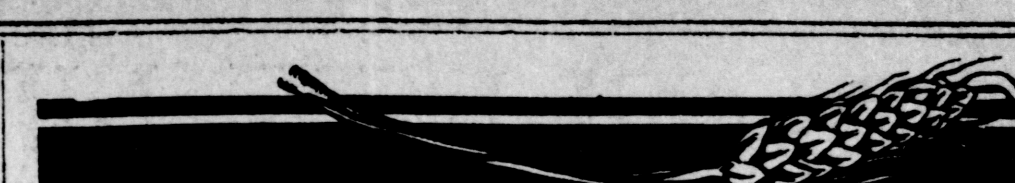

"Yes," said she. "And what has Mr. Carson done?"

"Done!" replied Max, feeling sure that she could care nothing for the man of whom she spoke in so slighting a tone. "He, a pauper, and his crazy friend, have got injunctions against travel by air-ship, and even against the head of Federated Metals! Our courts have sunk pretty low! It is an outrage!"

She rose, and almost ran down to the boat; slowly strolled back and seated herself on the bench. Did Craighead's mysterious utterances about "surrounding" New York and "gridironing" the country mean this? Had Theodore found a way to defeat Shayne, and the bitter, cruel Winzer?

"We are alone," said Silberberg, "on an island in the air. Are you sorry?"

Virginia did not smile. She was thinking of the victory of Carson. He had been great in working out his creation, and in that deadly duel with the Stickleback; and now, he had made war on her Uncle Finley, the tiger of the Stock Exchange, in his very den—and won! She was ready to throw up her hat and hurrah. But yet, this last victory was not like the first. This was the old story of finding how to exploit the world by monopoly; that was doing, creating. Must success be so often only victorious restraint of beneficent human effort? Yet, she was glad to see Theodore victor rather than vanquished in any fight in which—but this was folly! He had mortally offended her in that matter of being her uncle; all was over between them! Yet she finally answered Silberberg inconsistently.

Your bread can be no better than the flour—be sure the flour is right.

Marvel Flour

is the ceam of the flour portion of the very finest wheat grown in the famous hard spring wheat districts of Minnesota and the Dakotas. Ne better wheat is grown, no better flour is made. Marvel Flour makes very light, creamy-white, delicious bread, biscuits, cake and pastry.

And it costs less per loaf.

Insist on Marvel Flour—your grocer sells it. Order a sack today.

Listman Mill Company

"No," said she, "I am not very sorry! But I shall need my hand, now, to hold my dress out of the dew!"

Max was delighted at her complaisance and at his ability to become excited over it. He was not so base after all. He was actually trembling—a splendid symptom.

"Tell me once more that you are not sorry—please!" said he.

"I am not," she reassured him. "In fact, I—I am rather glad, Mr. Silberberg!"

"Max!" said he unctuously. "Let it be Max, your fellow prisoner!"

"Well, Max, then!" It is hard to be obliged to say that she said this snappishly, abruptly, unlovingly, and much as one might toss a crust to a drooling dog, and tell him to get out. And Mr. Silberberg took the crust and was satisfied.

Poor Shayne! He straitly laid the vow upon all not to tell their awful fate to Mrs. Shayne.

"She's so—her nervous state, you know—I have no idea what she might do if she found out! She'd go wild. She hasn't had 'no' said to her in twenty years! She might fall dead, with that heart of hers!"

Virginia systematically hid from Silberberg, dinners and forced interviews bringing no advancement to his courtship. He began to wonder if the Suarez temperament were not rather difficult, and sometimes felt that this long absence from stage entrances and all-night cafes hardly paid. To leave so many willing beauties for an obdurate one, who, by greenroom standards was no beauty after all, seemed—to use his own self-revelatory phrase—"bad business."

And the longer they dwelt in their little nest the more these cage-birds of the law failed to agree. Mrs. Shayne wanted to be taken to the millionaire's colony in Lake Temagami, where they had an island, to have La Salviniella and her company to sing, with a house party afterward. Shayne was convinced that the devil himself must suggest these plans, every one of which involved contempt of court.

One blowy day it culminated. Virginia, from a summer-house opening toward New York, braved the moist guests, and swept the sky with her field-glasses for—well, for something. Silberberg followed her, swearing inwardly at the perversity of the girl; and as he found her, things began to happen. Far over to the southeast and driving fast before the gale, came the only flying-machine in America free of the McFadden interdict. Unfortunately Silberberg!

At the same hour Mrs. Shayne burst into Shayne's Shayne's den, where he was exchanging acrimonious wireless messages with his be-deviled lawyers, her breath short, her face flushed, her attire and coiffure disarranged. Shayne knew the symptoms, and sprang to her side.

After several attempts she spoke with great distinctness.

"Oh, tell me it isn't true!" she cried. "Tell me that I am not humiliated, actually controlled, by that bandit from the Alabama forest!"

Mr. Shayne begged her to calm herself, which made the case worse. Mrs. Shayne drummed on the Persian rug with her heels, and yelped short yelps of distress—or temper.

"If Madeline's been talking to you," asserted Shayne, "I'll discharge her."

"I hire and discharge my own maids, Finley Shayne!" said she, much more normal now. "Then it's true! My God! I'm a prisoner!"

"It's only an injunction," urged Mr. Shayne. "We can't use the Roc because the court forbids it—"

"At that man Carson's request!" ejaculated Mrs. Shayne. "Imprisoned by him who insulted me, ruined my niece, struck you, would have murdered Mr. Silberberg, and new by the venal decision of a purchased court, he makes prisoners of us all! I tell you, Finley Shayne, it is a trick of the proletariat to immure us here and come at their leisure and kill us!"

"My dear, my dear!" urged Mr. Shayne. "That is quite impossible! We could go in the Roc rather than be murdered. It is absurd to suppose—"

Mrs. Shayne. "on imprison me, and then insult me. Coward! If going in the Roc is so easy, why don't we go? I thought I was married to a man!"

Shayne sprang to his feet, so completely subdued, that he became violent. He would go to jail; he would violate every injunction ever issued, since the days of the Star Chamber, before he would be so lashed and exoriated.

"Marie," said he, "the Roc will be ready in half an hour! I'll show you I'm no coward! et ready! Call Virginia and Silberberg! Hurry!"

Mrs. Shayne knew better than to try stopping him. He yelled messages and orders into telephones. He issued hurry calls for valets and maids. The forcefulness that had made him what he was came uppermost. The great summer home woke up and hummed. About the air-ship garage the mechanics began resting the machinery; the pilot and the engineers appeared, grumbling at Mr. Shayne's defiance of the courts rather than be called a poltroon by the wife of his bosom. Physicians should not neglect in the summation or forces the "E. M. F." and the "L. P." of woman

MRS. T. ALLEN

APOPLEXY FATAL TO AMMUNDSON

Old Resident of North Side
Dies at His Home Yesterday; Funeral
Tomorrow

Jens Ammundson, aged 59 years,
died at his home, 1427 Berlin street,
yesterday afternoon, the cause of his
demise being apoplexy.

Deceased is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Shelby of Milwaukee, who is now in the city; a son, Oscar, who is located somewhere in North Dakota, and a brother, Hans, of this city.

Mr. Ammundson was born in Norway fifty-nine years ago, and lived there the greater part of his life. In 1888 he came to this country, coming directly to this city, having resided here continuously for the past twenty-two years.

The funeral will be held at the residence of his brother Hans, 1436
Charles street, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. E. O. Vik officiating and Undertaker Sletten in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

Mayor Sorensen says the plans
call for a structure wide enough
for two teams to pass, two street
car tracks and two walks for pedestrians. The steel structure is to be built by the company and the approaches by the city. The mayor said the matter is now up to the commission and as soon as definite
plans are adopted the work will be started.

WILL PUT END TO CAR ROBBERIES

Milwaukee Road Appoints
Special Officer to Look After This Locality

The numerous recent burglaries
of freight cars on the Milwaukee
road in this vicinity has led the operating officials of the system to appoint a special police officer to look after this end of the system.
The road is determined in its effort to put a stop to the pilfering
practices which have been going on
for some time.

Announcement was made yesterday at the local offices of the road
of the appointment of Leopold Schoenig as a special officer in this section to crush out this trouble.

There has been numerous car
robberies along this end of the La Crosse and the River Divisions.
Several of the culprits have been caught and sentenced. Several Milwaukee road detectives have been in this locality for the past few days looking after the work but it is expected that they will return
to Milwaukee now that the special
officer has been appointed.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a
"sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderful beneficial effect. Nowadays
we don't have to resort to the old-time,
tiresome method of gathering the herbs
and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do
it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.
This preparation is sold by all first-class
druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or
is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York
City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by O.
T. Erhart.

ANTI-CATHOLIC PUT IT UP TO KING

LONDON, May 11.—King George's
first row in the opinion today of the best informed churchmen and politicians of England will result from his objection to the anti-Catholic character of the oath that he will be required to take when he opens his first parliament. Already the anti-Catholics who form an overwhelming
part of the population, are opposing
any change in the oath and are importuning members of parliament not to carry out the suggestion that a few of the "offending sentences" be modified.

It is admitted that a majority of the members of parliament favor a change in the oath, which question,
in fact, has been under consideration
since the Eucharistic congress in London. Owing to the tremendous popular sentiment against a change,
however, parliament has deferred action.

Now King George has brought
the issue to a head.

Great Excitement Among
Lawyers in Circuit
Court This Morning

Groups of attorneys were gathered in the corridors whispering and
in the stillness of the courtroom
there was the air of expectancy.
Jurymen watched the clock and the judge, lawyers fumbled with their

watches as the noon hour approached.

"Will he do it?" was the question
in every mind.

But he didn't.

"The jury is excused until 2
o'clock," said Judge Higbee.

Faces fell (though the "dull
thuds" were missing.)

It meant court attaches, jurors
and lawyers must plug away in court instead of going to the opening ball game.

"Now if it had been a motorboat
race," grumbled a lawyer, "things
would be different."

COUNTY BOARD ATTENDS GAME

Supervisors Are at the Opening Ball Game This Afternoon in a Body

The battle is on. La Crosse and Eau Claire are this afternoon fighting for victory at the ball park in the opening game of the season. The attendance is good, it being estimated that over one thousand fans are present.

The Eau Claire team will be in the city today, tomorrow and Friday, after which the Duluth pennant winners will be at the local park for a three game series.

The La Crosse county board of supervisors are in attendance in a body, having reserved nearly an entire section of seats for themselves. The seats began selling this morning and by noon the four sections had been entirely sold out.

Jimmy Callahan, owner of the Logan Squares of Chicago, was in the city yesterday to make arrangements with the Cuban Stars for a long engagement at Chicago. It is understood that an effort will be made to get the Cubans into the Chicago City league. Callahan's only comment on the game was that the Cubans were a fast lot, perhaps too fast for most of the Chicago semi-pro organizations.

The population of Indians in Wisconsin will show an increase, said H. A. Larson, of Waupaca, Wis., special agent appointed by the government to enumerate the Red Skins in this state. Mr. Larson was in the city today calling upon Congressman Esch and checking up the names of Indians turned in by the enumerators.

"While we are not allowed to give out any figures," continued Mr. Larson, "it is certain that the Indian population will show an increase in Wisconsin as well as in other states throughout the country. The general impression is that the Indian population is on the decrease, but this is not true. The fact that the Indians each receive their allowance from the government, is largely the reason for the increase in the population. It is estimated that the total Indian population in the United States is about 300,000, which is a large increase over that of ten years ago."

Commissioner Fred Schnell of the board of public works is getting the cribs at the public bathhouse in condition for the opening of the season. Some repairs are necessary before the baths will be in shape for use. The season will not be opened, however, until the weather permits.

Should the Green Bay "short line" between here and Onalaska be sold to the La Crosse Interurban Railway company and the plans of the latter company carried out, by which that portion of the right of way south of Main street would be abandoned, a beautiful boulevard might be laid out by the city. TOWN WILL MOVE TO THE RAILROAD

PORTLAND, Ore., May 11.—(Special.)—Finding itself a mile and a half from a new railroad, Lostine, an Oregon town, is going to pull up stakes and move to the railway. The people of the town approve of the saying of Mahomet and the mountain and since the railroad will not come to the town, the town will go to the railroad.

June the first has been set for moving day. The town will bundle everything into moving vans and re-establish itself on its new location at that time. Meanwhile stores and dwellings are going up on the town site just established at the railroad. A tract of 60 acres has been purchased adjoining the Lostine depot and is being sold off in town lots.

For a year the people of Lostine have studied the proposition of moving to the railway. The project met stout opposition in many quarters and a number of the leading business men fought the change. The town has stood on its present location since the first settlement of the Walla Walla Valley and the old timers did not countenance any such radical changes as the moving of the town.

However, as time passed, it was shown how advantageous it would be if Lostine were on the railroad and recently it was decided to build a new Lostine at the depot. The work is now being completed and early next month people of the town will be established on their new location.

HEARING IS HELD REGARDING LOCKS

Rivermen All Agree that the Proposed Plan at Keokuk will Prove Inadequate

Capt. W. A. Thompson and rivermen all along the upper river are interested in the hearing conducted at St. Louis Monday by the United States army board of engineers for rivers and harbors to consider the size of the Keokuk locks and dam.

The locks and dam are to be constructed at Keokuk, Iowa, by a company which already has contracted part of its power to the Union Electric Company in St. Louis, and has other customers in view.

The hearing results from a protest by river men against construction of the locks on plans calling for 95 feet width and 400 feet length.

Boat owners and those interested in the development of the Mississippi river traffic contend that these locks would be too small and have asked that the original plan for locks 110 by 600 feet be adhered to.

The river men were unanimous in the contention that the locks the size approved by the board of army engineers would be insufficient for the needs of future river traffic. They contend that the Panama canal and river improvement would increase river traffic and make the smaller locks inadequate.

They thought the government in the interest of navigation should take over the extra cost of making the locks sufficient for all possible needs.

Among those appearing before the board were Capt. J. F. Kileen of the Diamond Jo line, Thomas Wilkinson, Burlington; C. F. Perry, Quincy, Ill.; J. P. Allen, L. H. G. Bouscaren, Keokuk; Major Charles Keller, army engineer at Rock Island; M. Meigs of Keokuk; John L. Mathews of the Mississippi River Valley Transportation company; William Logan, Keokuk; W. A. Mees, Moline, Ill.; John E. Neubben, W. McManus and Stephen Greenwall, representing the Mississippi River Pilots' association.

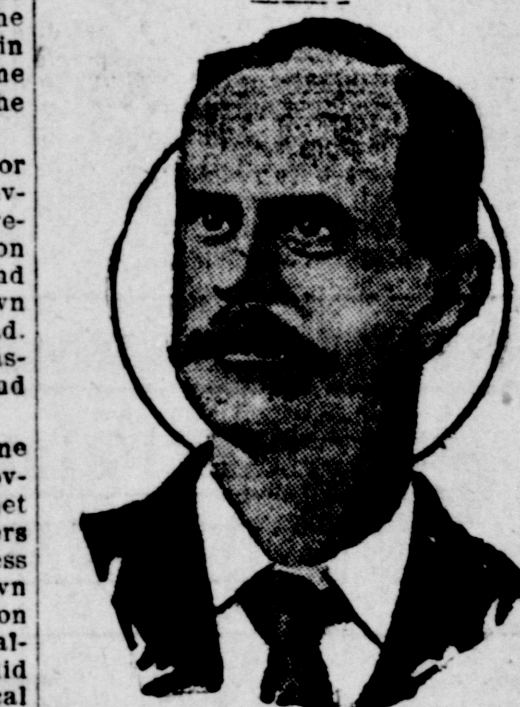

ELSIE HALIK FIRST IN DECLAMATORY

Elsie Halik, speaking on "The Bride," won first place in the girls' declamatory contest held at the high school yesterday afternoon. Second place was a tie between Grace Gessell and Viva Fox, the judges not being able to decide between second and third places. The former spoke on "The Lost World," while the latter spoke on "Women's Rights." This was an extremely good contest, far better than the other contests held in former years. The three girls above named will represent La Crosse in the league contest held at Sparta next Friday evening. The judges were Prof. J. P. Bird, J. M. Holley and Prof. Osting. Six contestants were entered, the other three being Helen Peterson, who spoke on "Jennie McNeely," Barbara Knothe, who spoke on "Oh, No," and Elizabeth Kucera, who spoke on "The Wreck of the Hesperus."

LIT CLUB HEARS EXCELLENT TALKS

Another good meeting was held by the Lit Club last night, with H. Moss acting as chairman in the absence of the president. R. Ray delivered a very interesting talk on the workingman's son at Harvard, and R. Schweizer spoke on the loss and gain of Hammett. Ed Stavrum spoke on local and W. Shirley on the current events. Fitch Shaw spoke on live funny stories. Wm. Crosby gave the extemporaneous speaker and John Young the critic of the evening. Ralph Bradish was voted into the club.

CENTER OF MILK STRIKE IN BOSTON

Stanley H. Abbott, President of the Milk Producers' Association

BOSTON.—The milk strike in Boston, in which the producers are holding back an average of 27,000 cans of milk per day, is most serious. The effect was not at once felt, but as the week passes the situation hourly becomes more serious. Milk is being rushed in from outside sources in an effort to supply the demand.

Stanley H. Abbott, president of the Milk Producers' association, is the center of this fight on the part of the producers to maintain winter prices on milk throughout the summer months. The consumers refuse to pay this amount and the milk is being withheld in a strike which affects seriously practically every person in the city.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER

The Only True Hair Restorer, Tonic and Rejuvenator

ALMOST A MIRACLE

My hair was as white as snow when I commenced using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Restorer. One bottle restored my hair to its natural dark brown color. As I am now 70 years old, I consider the result most remarkable. It is an agreeable and refreshing hair dressing, keeping the hair soft and glossy, without being in the least greasy or sticky.

WM. WESTLAKE,
210 West Main Street, Rochester, N. Y.

Why hesitate when WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER is daily producing just such results?

After years of study and analysis of the hair, we have been able to produce an Ideal Hair Tonic and Restorer, which contains an actual constituent of hair, combined with ingredients of recognized merit for treatment of hair and scalp diseases. It makes and keeps the scalp clean and healthy, gives life, strength and lustre to the hair, and restores faded and gray hair to natural color.

No matter how long and thick your hair is, WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER will make it longer and thicker. It will remove every trace of dandruff in a few days, stop falling in one week, and start a new growth in from one to three months.

These are facts that have been proven in scores of cases. WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER is guaranteed to do all that it is claimed to do or the price will be refunded.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD HUMORS

The skin is provided with countless pores and glands, through which an evaporation is going on continually, day and night. This is Nature's method of regulating the temperature of our bodies, and preserving the natural appearance of the skin. These pores and glands are connected with tiny veins and arteries through which they receive from the blood the necessary nourishment and strength to preserve their healthy condition.

Just as long as the blood remains pure the skin will be free from eruptions, but when the blood becomes affected with acids and humors its nourishing and healthful properties are lost, and its acid, humor-laden condition causes inflammation of the delicate tissues and fibres of the pores and glands, and the effect is shown in Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Rashes, etc.

The humors and acids get into the blood through a deranged and inactive condition of the system. Those members whose duty it is to collect and expel the refuse matters of the body fail to properly do their work, and a surplus amount of waste matter is left in the system to sour and ferment and be absorbed into the blood. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., are valuable only for what ability they possess to keep the skin clean, allay itching and temporarily reduce inflammation. They cannot cure skin trouble because they do not reach the blood.

S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every character and kind because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation and removes the acids and humors that are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acid blood and completely cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Rashes, and every variety of skin eruption and affection. When S. S. S. has driven out the humors and acids from the blood, every symptom passes away, the skin is nourished with rich, healthful blood, the tissues are relieved of all inflammation, natural evaporation again takes place and the skin becomes soft and smooth and perfect. Book on Skin Diseases sent free.

FIGHTS THE WHITE PLAGUE

BALTIMORE, May 11.—Joe Gans, the "old master," the most popular colored fighter that ever donned a mitt, is out for good—out of the ring—counted out by the dreaded white plague.

The former champion of the light-weight division has been informed that tuberculosis has taken hold of him and was ordered to leave at once for the west.

Gans plans to start at once and will take up residence at some out-of-the-way resort in Arizona, with the hope of eventually gaining the upper hand over the disease.

SCHARDT WINS HIS OWN GAME

Starts a Batting Rally with a Triple which Is Followed with Two Bingles

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—Led by that mighty finger, Wilbur Schardt, McCloskey's athletes started an eleventh hour batting rally that put them under the wire a winner by a scant margin, the score being 4 to 3.

The victory was particularly to Schardt because Carr and his men some time ago threatened to beat him every time he started.

CUBANS WIN IN THE NINTH INNING

With the Score 7 to 3 in the Eighth Favoring the Outcasts, They Pounded in Six Runs

KUEHN STARS WITH THE BAT

Youngster Gets Three Hits, One a Triple, Driving in Three Needed Scores

The Outcasts won the game yesterday in the eighth inning and then the Cuban Stars came back in the ninth and took it right back, driving in six scores, which made the final count 9 to 7. La Crosse was unable to do anything in the last half of the ninth and the hope of tying up the contest soon faded when Pedrosa, the terror of the Castellians, mounted the rubber. He struck out two men and the other popped an easy one.

It was a nice game till the eighth inning. In that round with the score 3 to 1 in favor of the equatorial aggregation, Padron went wild, allowed three hits, walked three men and hit another, and when the inning closed La Crosse had crossed the sea just six times. Kuehn was responsible for three runs, injecting a beautiful three base wallop to the timber in the last moments of the round, clearing the bases. It looked like the Outcasts' game but the next inning the Cubans came back strong with the willow and also scored six runs.

The ninth round started with the score standing 7 to 3 in favor of the locals.

Pedrosa hit to Schirner, the ball taking a bad bound and going over his head. Santa Cruz flied out. Hernandez hit to center and when Joe returned the pill to Ward at first, Pedrosa scored. Bustamante drew a walk and Moran was safe on an error by Doll at third. Gonzales planted the willow against the pill for a triple to right, scoring two men. Padron hit for a double, scoring Moran. Parpette grounded out to Schirner. Magrinet hit to right field. Pedrosa, second time up in this round, slammed one to right, Klein pegging it to Doll, who tagged Magrinet at third, ending the round. In the last half of the ninth the Outcasts were unable to connect with Pedrosa, who began to hurl.

Jimmy Callahan of the Logan Squares of Chicago and Mr. Nichols, at one time a major leaguer of note, were interested spectators. The score:

Crawford Gets a Double in the Tenth and Scores on Delehanty's Double; Simmons' Hit Wins

CUBS GET TO MATHEWSON

"Big Six" Driven from the Slab and Ames Proves Easy, Chicago Winning 9 to 5

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Detroit Americans beat the Yankees, 5 to 3, yesterday in a ten inning struggle after the score had been tied in the sixth. In the tenth, with Cobb an easy out, Crawford hit for two sacks and scored on Delehanty's double. Delehanty took third on Moriarity's out and then scored on Simmons' hit past Chase. Bush's one error in the sixth after two men were out, let three Yankees score. Score: R. H. E.
New York . . . 000003000—3 9 3
Detroit . . . 000021002—5 13 1
Batteries—Vaughan and Sweeney; Mullin and Stange.

Boston, 4; St. Louis, 3

BOSTON, Mass., May 11.—Boston defeated St. Louis, 4 to 3. Both Arrellanes and Waddell were derailed after being hit rather freely. The locals managed to bunch enough in the first to get two runs off the Rube and repeated the trick in the seventh off Graham. Score: R. H. E.
Boston . . . 200100020x—4 7 3
St. Louis . . . 010100001—3 10 4
Batteries—Arrellanes, Clotte and Carrigan; Waddell, Graham and Stephens.

Philadelphia 1, Cleveland 1

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—The Athletics and Cleveland battled for twelve innings to a tie when the game was called owing to darkness. The local team outbatted Cleveland 2 to 1, several double plays preventing runs. Morgan pitched a great game, holding the Naps to four hits, but they got two hits in the ninth inning, one a double, tying the score. Morgan struck the side out in the eighth. Score: R. H. E.
Philadelphia . . . 00000001000—1 10 1
Cleveland . . . 0000000100—1 4 1
Batteries—Moran and Livingstone; Joss and Clark. Called darkness.

Chicago 10, Washington 3
WASHINGTON, May 11.—One of the most foolish games of the season was won by Chicago, 10 to 3. Johnson started for Washington and was a miserable failure. He had hits bunched on him in the third inning for three runs. In the sixth with one out he gave three bases on balls in a row, allowed a small hit, then gave another pass. He was succeeded by Walker, who gave two passes in the same inning, the whole forcing three men over the plate. Score: R. H. E.
Washington 101010000—3 6 3
Chicago . . . 003024010—10 13 3
Batteries—Johnson, Walker and Street; White and Block.

WHERE JOHNSON WILL DO HIS TRAINING

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Seal Rock hotel is to be the training camp of Jack Johnson. It is on the ocean boulevard, just out of San Francisco. Back of the hotel the country is somewhat hilly and it was these hills which attracted Johnson as much as any other feature. According to present plans he will spend much time climbing hills every day. Another point which appealed to him was the smooth roadway along the ocean boulevard. On this roadway he will do his running and open air exercising stunts.

The pavilion of the Seal Rock is fitted up with a stage, on which Johnson expects to do his training, and ample opportunity will be afforded those who wish to see the title holder in action to view him from seats in the theater.

BATTling IN THE FIRST GAME TODAY

TOM SCHOONHOVEN Manager of the Eau Claire Team

The Eau Claire team, which is today playing the first and opening game of the Minny League season here, arrived in the city at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Manager Schoonhoven says that with an even break in luck he should give the other teams a good run for the top position in the percentage column.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderful beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is call for the ready made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, and is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by T. Erhart.

The difference between slender and bony girls is merely a matter of income.

ROBBED BY MASKED MAN HIS "STORY"

But when Police "Sweat" Frank Niedbalski, Bell-boy, He Confesses It's a Yarn

Frank Niedbalski, aged 16, living with his parents at 1113 South Eleventh street, a bellboy at the Stoddard hotel, told the police today he was held up last night near the Sixth district school by a masked man with a revolver who relieved him of $9.25 of the salary of $10 he had just drawn from the hotel.

Sweated at the police station he admitted he had drawn his salary a little at a time, spending it for rigs, candy, gum, peanuts, soda water and other delicacies, and fearing parental wrath had framed up the holdup story to account for the missing salary.

"JIM THE PENMAN" BEATS NASTY PLAY

NEW YORK, May 11.—Little old New York is showing symptoms of conversion. Having purged herself, by order of Mayor Gaynor, of one of the most indecent "so-called plays" ever attempted on Broadway, "The Girl With the Whopping Cough," she has started in on a regular old fashioned revival. Last night's congregation at the Lyric theater was so deeply moved by Brother Brady's all-star production of "Jim, the Penman," that the papers today predict one of the most successful "protracted meetings" ever held in these parts.

TO BREAK AUTO RECORDS

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Brighton Beach motordrome Friday and Saturday will be the scene of what is expected to be the fastest 24 hour automobile race ever run on a circular track in America.

Judging from the trials of the 12 cars entered, experts believe that the winner will break all world's records.

TOMAH SALOON CASE IN COURT

Recount of the Vote in the No-License Election will Not Be Made by the City Officials

The Tomah saloon case, over which much has been said, will in all probability be taken into the courts and be heard before Judge Higbee in this city.

It is possible that the county clerk or city officials will not make a canvass of the votes cast at the no-license election and return the results to the court, as is the order in the writ drawn up in behalf of the saloonkeepers of Tomah. It is proposed to take the other alternative and appear before Judge Higbee before the appointed time, May 31, to show why the votes were not recounted.

At the last meeting of the city council of Tomah it was voted to place the matter in the hands of the city attorney, W. R. McCaul.

The complaint alleges many irregularities in the conduct of the election in the different wards, among which are the failure to keep tally sheets, the allowing of outsiders to enter booths and mark ballots for voters, the allowing of aliens and non-residents to vote, the counting of votes against license which were for license, the counting of blank ballots against license, and that the election of officers in the second ward were prejudiced and juggled the count to make a majority against license.

The vote in the city was only five majority for no-license.

GUARDS MOURN FOR COL. J. E. KIRCHEIS

At the first meeting since the death of Lieutenant Colonel Julius E. Kirchels, the Governor's Guard association passed following resolutions of regret and condolence, ordered them spread upon the minutes and a copy furnished to the family: "Whereas, the great commander in his wisdom saw fit on the 10th of April, 1910, to transfer from our midst Lieutenant Colonel Julius E. Kirchels to wider and higher fields of usefulness whereby this organization has lost a good and faithful member, his family a loving husband and father, a faithful son and kind brother; his associates a true friend and a willing worker; his employers an honest and conscientious servant; therefore be it

"Resolved, that in our grief at his departure from us we bow in humble devotion to the Divine Will; and that we individually and integrally extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family of our respected comrade and to his friends, associates and employers in the bereavement that has fallen upon them."

CITY DOCK TO BE CLEARED OF BOATS

Owing to complaints from launch owners that certain owners of boats are using the city landing at the foot of State street as a permanent moorage when their boats are not in use, thereby obstructing the dock so that it is of little use to those seeking to land, the board of public works has decided to order all boats to use the landing for temporary landing purposes only. All boats tied at the landing will be ordered to seek other moorage at once.

TO TAKE ANOTHER CENSUS IN JULY

During the month of July another census will be taken in the city of La Crosse, this time to ascertain the number of children of school age residing in La Crosse. The appointment of a census taker will come up at the next meeting of the board of education June 6. The school census must be taken every year so that a basis may be obtained for the amount of money which is turned over to the public schools by the state. This is based upon the number of school children of school age in the city. The census in no wise affects the taxation or rate of taxation but merely determines what part of the funds brought in by taxation are to be used for school purposes.

JUNE CLASS A RECORD BREAKER

From present indications the class which will graduate in June will be the largest one ever graduated from the local school, about eighty being certain of finishing. Prof. Benet said the class is in many respects a remarkable one, as a great per cent of those who entered went all the way through. They have always had a lot of class spirit, and have held together at all times, always working for the good of the majority.

GIRLS GET THEIR CLASS MONOGRAMS

The members of the girls' basketball team of the high school have been given their monograms, those who received them being: Helen Harrison, Helen Anderson, Ruth Dittman, Ella Forbes, Maud Neprud, Mary Evans and Frances Egbert. This was a very remarkable season for the girls, as they went through the season without meeting a single defeat, a record which is hard to beat.

LOOK FOR THE SHEILD

TO SAVE VICTIM OF BAD MAGISTRACY

LONDON, May 11.—A belated attempt to reform Anne Connor, 70 years old, nearly 41 years of which have been spent in prison, was begun today by a group of persons interested in the reform of the system of magistracy in England of which the woman is declared to have been the victim.

The woman has served fourteen prison sentences, having been first arrested when she was 14 years old on a charge of petit larceny, her offense being nothing more than a girl's prank.

There is a tradition to the effect that once upon a time a woman in a crowded car got up and offered her seat to a man with a baby in his arms.

"Is the lady of the house in?" asked the sewing machine agent.

"Dye mane me or the woman what owns it?" demanded Bridget.—Harpers Weekly.
